UNIVERSITY OF CAPE COAST

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS
DEPARTMENT OF MANAGEMENT STUDIES

END OF FIRST SEMESTER EXAMINATIONS – 2013/2014

LSB 102: HUMAN RELATIONS IN GHANAIAN ORGANIZATIONS

INSTRUCTIONS: ANSWER ALL QUESTIONS IN SECTION A TIME ALLOWED: 2 HOURS

SECTION A

1. The following are deliberate barriers to communication EXCEPT:
   a) Power needs
   b) Emotional reactions
   c) Ambition
   d) Conflict
2. There are two main types of feedback a listener can use, they are:
   a) Questioning and two-way listening
   b) Active listening and passive listening
   c) Effective listening and one way listening
   d) Passive listening and questioning
3. The two greatest exponents of classical management theories were undoubtedly:
   a) Likert S.F. and Herzberg G.H.
   b) Henry Fayol and F. W. Taylor
   c) Henry Taylor and F.W. Taylor
   d) Mcgregor F.R and G.H. Argyris 4. Many of the issues raised by Mayo and his colleagues were taken up in postwar years by:
   a) American social psychologists
   b) American environmental psychologists
   c) American behavioural psychologists
   d) American state psychologists 5. The patterns of interaction within groups, Inter-personal and Intra-personal relationships, are classified as:
   a) Components of inter-personal relations
   b) Variables of human relations
   c) Components of intra-personal relations
   d) Variables of group relations
6. The formal meeting between employee representatives and management to discuss matters of mutual interests is:
   a) Labour Union
   b) Employers Union
   c) Collective Bargaining
   d) Joint Consultation
7. The state of unhealthy atmosphere existing between two parties, usually between employees and employers, or union and management is:

a) Grievances
b) Discipline
c) Authority
d) Disputes

8. The use of threat of penalties to cause people to comply with legitimate rules and regulations is:
   a) Power
   b) Authority
   c) Punishment
   d) Discipline
9. The avoidance of behaviour or the accommodation of the other party's wishes without standing up for one's own rights is:
   a) Aggressive behaviour
   b) Assertive behaviour
   c) Convergers behaviour
   d) Passive behaviour
10. Which of the following are the four styles of learning:
   a) Diverger, Accommodator, Converger and Assimilator
   b) Diverger, Accommodator, Converger and Asimilator
   c) Acommodator, Converger, Assimilator and Diverger,
   d) Diverger, Accommodator, Assimilator and Converger
11. In human relations, the time taken to understand and accept someone's view is generally affected by the impression which also has an indirect bearing on time taken to resolve disputes and misunderstandings. TRUE / FALSE
12. Barriers to communication represent negative factors which promote poor and effective communication. TRUE / FALSE.
13. The tone of one's speech is a means of guessing an impression about someone. TRUE / FALSE
14. A stress situation can be permanent and cannot also create a temporary situation. TRUE / FALSE
15. To get away from stress, one has to recognize oneself as a stress sufferer and the best thing to do is to take a complete break from routine work. TRUE / FALSE.
16. Communication is a process of transferring information and understanding from a receiver to a sender. TRUE / FALSE
17. Stereotyping is the tendency of raising a general impression based on one or few characteristics of an individual, to judge other characteristics of that same person. TRUE / FALSE
18. Hearing becomes listening only when much focus is not on what is pronounced and in the right context and with understanding. TRUE / FALSE
19. The stage-hogging listen carefully with precision in order to seize the piece of information to use as ammunition to attack the audiences. TRUE / FALSE
20. Impressions do not only deal with individuals but organizations as well. TRUE / FALSE

INSTRUCTION: ANSWER ANY TWO QUESTIONS IN SECTION B

1. a). What is Human Relations? 2 marks b). State and explain any four importance of Human Relations in organizations. 8 marks c). List and explain any three factors that constitute the bases for good HR. 6 marks d). Distinguish between the Concept of Exchange and Our common Humanity. 4 marks

2. a). Identify four perception powers and show how these powers affect human relations. 8 marks b). Why is perception an important element of Human Relations? Explain any four reasons. 6 marks c). What is assertiveness? 2 marks d). Compare and contrast passive and aggressive behaviour. 4 marks

3. a). As a manager, describe three alternative ways to resolve human relations problems in your organization. 6 marks b). Describe the four practical steps necessary in behavioural change. 8 marks c). Describe the link between impression and human relations. 2 marks d). State four reasons why impression management is good in human relations. 4 marks